

Character motivation

Main order of business: Make my way back to Ri'shara to report to Nadira on how our caravan was lost, while I keep looking for clues of my lost companions along the way, and hopefully find that they made it home safe by themselves.

It's a long trek, and I am happy I have Schmoop along for the ride, as he's the perfect traveling companion. He likes music, I like taverns and bars, and together we get kicked out of them on the somewhat regular, for various reasons.
