

Skyfather's Hall

The oldest and wealthiest of the Open Halls of Thunder in Eusia, and a place of worship, study, debate, discussion, and learning for both Thorist clerics and paladins, as well as many followers of other earthen faiths such as druids and shamans.

The structure consists of a vast hall with multiple levels carved from timber with ornate decorations and runic inscriptions and wards everywhere. It houses multiple guest rooms, libraries, studies, a massive open-sky enclosed courtyard, a mead hall, and an immense central hall known as the Stormvoice which is often used for large events such as the aforementioned debates and discussions, but when not used as such, forms an open place of prayer for all who visit Skyfather's Hall.
